Elks Banquet Celebrates Tougher Narcotics Laws

Members of the Gardena Elks honored local, city and state dignitaries last night at the narcotic-legislation achievement banquet for helping to push into law the recent narcotics bill that tightened up the dope laws of the state of California.

Los Angeles Mayor Sam Yorty, Councilman John S. Gibson and Torrance Mayor Albert Isen were among the leading civic functionaries attending the banquet.

George Putnam, commentator and newscaster, was also honored at the banquet. Putnam was one of the leading supporters of more stringent narcotic statutes during Elks' statewide campaign earlier this year.

THE BANQUET was commemorative of success of the drive, which resulted in tougher sentences for dope pushers. At invitation of Gov. Brown, William J. Hunt, publisher of the Gardena Valley News, and Max Zeigler, former exalted ruler of the Gardena lodge, flew to Sacramento to witness the signing of the bill.

The drive had its inception in the summer of 1957 after Zeigler saw an entire family of his friends destroyed by the addiction of one teen-age girl. With permission of the Grand Lodge, Zeigler proceeded with a campaign to circulate petitions throughout the state demanding long sentences for pushers, especially those guilty of peddling to youngsters.

THE CAMPAIGN was based on the observation that California pressed 19,000 prosecutions for dope traffic in 1960. Ohio, with a tough law, had seven. The supporters of the legislation inferred a great many peddlers were coming to California where things were easy for them.

During Zeigler's investigation, he said one girl pointed out 12 locations within a half-mile of Gardena City Hall where dope was obtainable. Petitions were circulated through 144 lodges in the

Dress Up

If your bathroom seems sort of plain an even cold looking, why not dress it up with wood paneling which will give it a cheerful and warm look? Western red cedar paneling is ideal in bathrooms.

Playground Programs

The activities at the summer playground of 223rd Street School are in full swing. Many good times are in store for the children who come out and join in the events that are held every week day from 12:30 to 5 p.m.

On Wednesday of last week the children were entertained by Jerry Williams and Charles Hentral who played their clarinets and after that a play, "Cinderella," was put on under the direction of Mrs. Thomas Brohamer. The children partaking in this drama were: Mary Campbell, Eddie Duron, Pat Henkle, Sharon Jeppson and Paul Jeppson. The Mistress of Ceremonies was Lynne Henkle.

After this show, the children were treated to snow cones put on by the PTA under the direction of the president, Mrs.

Ralph Robertson. She states that over 100 children were served. Later a skating event was held with over 50 children skating to fine records the children themselves had brought to the playground.

The girls' volleyball team has been very active and last Thursday they participated in a game at Carolle and did a splendid job and made the directors, Mr. Allen Orlin and Mrs. Thomas Brohamer very proud.

Garden Checklist

1. Feed roses and other garden shrubs when you return from vacation, and then give everything a good watering.
2. Select new bearded Iris and divide the old when clumps are crowded.
3. Feed dahlias an all purpose plant food as you do chrysanthemums—frequently.
4. When watering pot plants, be sure the soil is soaked through. Plunging them in a tub of water on occasion is a good practice.
5. Lackluster begonia leaves usually mean the plants are getting too much shade. A little sun will remedy this.
